WE LIVE HERE. WE GIVE HERE. IT STAYS HERE.

Social responsibility is top of mind for business executives, employees and customers. It’s well known that civic engagement boosts employee engagement at companies across the nation. In addition, it positively affects reputation, in turn impacting business—and even the ability to recruit employees.

More businesses are giving employees the opportunity to volunteer with community organizations and finding that it simultaneously increases their bottom line and employee satisfaction. While the benefits of employee volunteerism are widely known, many companies lack the internal resources to take advantage of those benefits.

You can turn to United Way of Porter County as your partner in employee engagement. United Way offers a pulse on community needs—and a network of community partners with volunteer opportunities throughout Northwest Indiana.

Through our Pacesetter program, we will build a custom engagement program for you that meets your needs, inspires your employees and helps the communities in which they live.

Sample components can include:

- Creating a project team for Day of Caring, in which teams help nonprofits across the region
- Implementing a private corporate Web portal with custom volunteer opportunities
- Hosting a Reading Buddies drive to help 1st and 2nd graders become better readers
- Organizing participation in community projects to help members of our community
- Recruiting volunteers to help with free tax preparation services
- Recruiting employees for United Way committees
- Connections with Goodwill Ambassadors to help implement campaigns and build leadership skills

Let us structure a custom employee engagement program for you through our Pacesetter program.
